UN Rejects China Bid for Membership

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The General Assembly rejected by a substantial margin today a new bid to seat Red China in the United Nations.

The vote on the Albanian-Cambodian proposal was 41 in favor, 57 against and 12 abstaining. Ethiopia was absent. The result last year was 42 in favor, 56 against with 12 abstentions.

It was the 14th successive year in which the China issue had been sidetracked or in which the assembly had voted outright to keep the Peking regime out.

The vote came after a week-long debate which placed the spotlight on the ideological rift between the Kremlin and the Chinese Communists.

The Soviet bloc voted solidly for the seating of the Peking government, but left it to little Albania—follower of the Peking line—to carry the ball.

As usual, the United States led the fight against handing over Nationalist China's seat to the Communists.

It is adaptable to any type truck and uses its rotating boom and cable to reach the wood and bring it to the truck for loading, thus making it possible for one man to do the work of several. It is designed and built to give years of trouble-free service.

OWNERS OF THE NEW INDUSTRY ARE ANSLEY GILBERT of Hope and Gordon Smith of Gurdin. The plant will be located on a 5 acre plot at the Hempstead County Industrial Site on West Avenue B. Construction of the building is expected to get started within the next few days.

34 Million Grandfathers in U.S. Today—Think of All the Children They Spoiled

By HAROLD V. STREETER

(Substituting for Hal Boyle)

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—By rough but conservative estimate, there are 34 million grandfathers in these United States.

As only one, I have succeeded with very little effort in thoroughly spoiling two grandchildren. Now, you take your pencil. You figure an average of two grandchildren to one grandfather. Simple multiplication will net you a total which could scare you half to death.

Grandfathering is one of the most underrated potents of our nuclear age.

In the sweat and excitement of the dressing room after his Los Angeles Dodgers swept the New York Yankees under the rug for baseball's world championship, the manager, Walt A. Ston, was asked what he most wanted to do.

Sit down and count his loot? No.

Sit back and horse-laugh at the critics who had been snarling at his heels for a year? No.

All he wanted was to hurry out to Ohio and go squirrel hunting with his grandson.

Most grandfathers easily wind up as expert spoolers. But there is a technique to it which a newcomer might note.

The "just this once" bit is a good beginning.

Grandson, resplendent in white, is in his high chair all gussied up for a family dinner at grandpa's. His innate sense tells him the parental paddle is far away; and that fawning look in grandfather's eye is worth exploiting.

So he rebels at wearing a bib. During the ensuing pushing and tugging, grandfather makes his move:

"Oh wouldn't it be all right if he ate without it — just this once?"

The end result: The suit is a mess. The dinner is likewise. But grandfather has an "in."

Now you can move dangerously from sympathy to downright deceit.

In a fit of pique, the little darling dashes a glass of milk to the floor. His purple-faced mother, noting the scattered shards and the spread of white liquid over wall-to-wall carpeting, springs up with mayhem in mind.

Grandfather makes his move: "It really was my fault. I reached over to wipe his mouth and accidentally knocked over the glass."

No further instruction needed. As a new grandfather, you are on your way. Next you will become with utmost ease that menace of social circles: The grandson-storyteller.

New Hurricane Seems Moving Out to Sea

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Hurricane Ginny appeared to be slowly lumbering away from shore today as it whipped up high waves and winds off the North Carolina coast.

One ship with 10 Navy men aboard was reported missing in the raging seas.

Ginny, which grew quickly into a full-blown hurricane Sunday night, packed 90 mile-an-hour winds that extended as far as 60 miles in all directions from where it churned the Atlantic about 100 miles southeast of Cape Hatteras, N.C.

It sent gale winds whistling as far as 250 miles away.

At 5 a.m. (EST), the Weather Bureau reported that Ginny, after having hovered near Cape Hatteras, was finally veering northeast at about 6 m.p.h.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hurricane Ginny raked the North Carolina coast with gale force winds today and whipped up heavy seas as it remained centered 100 miles southeast of Cape Hatteras. One ship with 10 men aboard was reported missing. Another was in trouble.

The Weather Bureau reported that Ginny was expected to move east northeast about 3 m.p.h. during the next 12 hours with no drop in strength.

The storm spun 90 m.p.h. winds out for 60 miles around its center and reached out with gale force winds for 250 miles to the north and east and 170 miles to the south and west.

Waves of 25 to 30 feet were reported lashing the Diamond Shoals lightship off Cape Hatteras.

Rescue planes and a Coast Guard cutter sped into the storm area in search of a de-commissioned Navy picket ship, the Fogg, with an officer and nine enlisted men aboard.

The vessel, formerly a destroyer-escort, was being towed

C of C Wants Bulletins to End Year in the Black

At the regular monthly October meet the Chamber of Commerce finances were a major item for discussion on the agenda. The current year started with a $750.00 deficit and so far during the year some $600.00 additional money has been expended for items and programs that do not normally come up each year, which accounts for the financial difficulty at this time.

A cut back in the office force has been effected and other measures will be taken in order to trim expenditures as possible in order to end the year without a deficit.

In an effort to secure new revenue for operation for the balance of the year, a letter has been sent to 50 local businesses not now holding a membership in the Chamber making an appeal for them to join as of October 1 stand pay a half years dues.

The letter points out the many activities that the Chamber of Commerce has carried on this year that has drawn favorable reactions, brought people to our city and created awareness of Hope's many attributes in the minds of our local citizens as well as visitors and industrial prospects.

The letter concludes with the reminder that the Chamber is working with industries that either building or expanding, thereby creating 60 to 65 new jobs in the very near future. All of this activity is very tangible evidence of the Chamber's activity.

This invitation is open to individuals as well as smaller businesses, who would like to be a part of the City's growth and development, to join and show your faith in Hope. Membership chairman Eugene White will send a representative to see you with a membership plaque if you will call him at PR 7-4661 or the Chamber office PR 7-3640.

Several persons who have been impressed with the Chamber program and activities, on behalf of the city, have done so recently. If you are not a member, why not join today? Remember the slogan for 1963 . . . "It's up to ME in '63" . . . Am I doing my part to build a better Hope?

Rules Laundry Machinery Is Taxable

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court held today that laundry equipment is not processing machinery under the definitions in the Arkansas Use Tax Law.

The ruling means the Pellerin Laundry Machinery Sales Co. of New Orleans, La. will have to pay $8,044 in use tax assessed against the firm by the state Revenue Department.

The Pellerin firm filed suit to recover the tax, which it had paid under protest, contending that machinery it had sold to several Arkansas firms was exempt. It contended that in the process of laundering, clothing was reshaped to a point that the process constituted remanufacture.

The Supreme Court rejected this contention. The Supreme Court affirmed a Miller Circuit Court case in which Audie Brock was convicted of second degree murder and sentenced to 18 years in prison for the shotgun slaying of John

Death Penalty for Rape Is Questioned

WASHINGTON (AP) — Justice Arthur Goldberg of the Supreme Court raised a question today whether the Constitution permits the death penalty for rape if a human life is neither taken nor endangered.

Goldberg, saying he thought this question should be considered, dissented to Supreme Court orders which denied reviews to two convicted rapists. Justices Douglas and Brennan said they also favored hearing the appeals.

The men whose appeals were rejected are:

Frank Jimmy Snider Jr., under sentence of execution in Virginia on conviction of rape in 1956 of a nine-year-old girl.

Frank Lee Rudolph, a Negro under death sentence in Alabama on conviction of raping a white woman in 1961.

The high court simply issued orders declining to hear these appeals but with a notation that Justices Goldberg, Douglas and Brennan favored hearing them. The court division thus was 6-3.

Conviction of Genovese to Be Restudied

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today ordered reconsideration of the narcotics law conviction of Vito Genovese, reputed overlord of organized crime in this country. Genovese, 66-year-old native of Italy, was described in recent Senate crime hearings as kingpin of a nationwide crime syndicate known as Costa Nostra. He is serving a 15-year sentence in the Leavenworth, Kan., Penitentiary.

The case of Genovese and nine others convicted with him was sent back to the U.S. Circuit Court in New York for reconsideration in light of a Supreme Court decision last May 27 in another case. Justices Clark, Harlan and White dissented from today's action.

The Supreme Court acted in the case of Genovese and the others with a brief order which directed that the judgment of the circuit court in New York upholding their conviction should be set aside pending reconsideration.

The May decision was in the case of Alvin R. Campbell and two others, who were convicted in a bank robbery. The Supreme Court's decision in the Campbell case held that an FBI agent who had interviewed a witness should have turned over to the defense his notes of the interview.

The trial judge in the Campbell case had refused permission for production of the notes, and for production of a report on the interview.

Justice Clark, who wrote a two-paragraph dissent, in which Justices Harlan and White joined, said he realized that the Supreme Court was not deciding today that the Campbell case governed the Genovese case; also that the Supreme Court was not implying how the circuit court should decide the Genovese case on reconsideration.

Clark said that he and the two other dissenters favored the Supreme Court's hearing argument on the Genovese case. He said he felt "it is futile" to send the Genovese case back to the lower court for reconsideration in the light of the Campbell case.

In a footnote to his dissent, Clark said that sending the Genovese case back "will merely delay the final decision which could be made on the record now before the (Supreme) Court."

Genovese and the nine others were convicted in April 1959 in federal court in New York of conspiring to violate the Narcotics Act.

Convictions of Marchers Overturned

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court overturned today convictions of 373 Negro students on charges of breach of the peace after a demonstration march in Orangeburg, S.C. The Negroes, sentenced to $50 fines or 30 days in jail each, appealed after the South Carolina Supreme Court twice affirmed their convictions.

The Supreme Court, in a three-line order, ordered the convictions overturned in light of a decision last spring in a case involving Negro demonstrators at the Capitol grounds in Columbia, S.C. The Columbia demonstrators were freed by the Supreme Court on the ground that they have a right to demonstrate peacefully.

In its first decision, the South Carolina Supreme Court said the Negroes had no city permit to march as they did on March 19, 1960. It said police had to make arrests because of "very high tension on the part of Negroes and white."

On March 18, 1963 the U.S. Supreme Court told the South Carolina Supreme Court to reconsider the case in the light of a decision announced Feb. 25, 1963, that reversed convictions of 187 Negroes who demonstrated near the Capitol in Columbia. The state court after reconsideration said it adhered to its first decision and the convictions had to stand unchanged.

In a second appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court, the Negroes contended they had been convicted for engaging in peaceful and orderly speech and assembly.

A TRUCE, FOR PATIENTS

A hospital would be a good place for sick folks if they could get peace, quiet and rest. But the ones who don't die have to go off to rest after they leave the hospital. Kind-hearted friends and relatives have built-in-radar that enables them to tell whether a hospitalized friend is asleep. If he is, then the company pours in thicker than flies at a molasses mill.

If the patient is awake, no big news has occurred, but if he is asleep people have to awaken him quickly to tell him choice goodies: His furnace blew up; someone ran a truck over his fence; a storm brone his chimney; or his best friend just dropped dead.

The patient can't escape, even if he is sufficiently hale. Two pals sit on each end of the bed and one sits on each side of the middle. The man with the biggest cigar sits in a chair smack beside his face. Flower are stuck up his nose and candy is piled on his chest, as if he were an ancient Egyptian and were taking his rations into the next world.

Everyone assumes he is aife and 10 of the 11 glasses of water or fruit juice handed him simultaneously are spilled on him and the sheet. The nurse comes in to make the bed and sponge the water and three chairs are knocked over by polite visitors.

Although he is a medical patient, he is almost ready for the psychopathic ward when his loving friends depart. Someone says: "We are all pulling for you." And he thinks of Woodrow Wilson's classic answer to Sena-

It also reversed a Union Circuit Court ruling upholding the Workmen's Compensation Commission in denying benefits for permanent disability to Jerry Moss, who received a back injury Nov. 25, 1960, while working for the El Dorado Drilling Co. The Supreme Court said evidence that Moss had a congenital spine ailment did not prove that this condition was not aggravated by the injury.

Clark's Probate Court was affirmed in holding that a will executed by Sam Miller, who died in 1958, was valid. A former wife of Miller's had contested the will, contending she and Miller were never divorced. Miller left his property to the children of a second marriage.

The Supreme Court sent back to Hot Spring Circuit Court an automobile accident damage case in which a $1,200 judgment against Marvin Holst was awarded to J. Kathryn Elliott. The court said the lower court erred in holding that another defendant, Rebecca Fitzhugh, was not liable in the case and then assessing full damages against Holst. by the tug Salish when the tow line parted 45 miles southeast of Cape Lookout.

The Fog has no power of its own and hasn't been heard from since the line parted.

The Navy said the seas in that area are running 40 to 50 feet high.

The Salish was also reported having difficulty steering in the high seas, fierce winds and driving rain.

Winds buffeting the coast cut off telephone communications between the mainland and North Carolina's string of sandy islands known as the Outer Banks. There was no indication so far, officials said, that residents of the often storm-swept island would have to be evacuated.

The Navy stood watch at its big Norfolk, Va., base to evacuate planes if need be in the face of Ginny's winds.

Civil defense and other emergency agencies were on alert in the areas.

North Carolina officials suspended operations of ferries at Oregon and Hatteras inlets early Sunday because of rough water and high winds.

A partially completed bridge across Oregon Inlet was opened to allow motorists to leave the Outer Banks.

During the night the Weather Bureau posted hurricane warnings for the Hatteras vicinity and ordered a hurricane watch for the coastal area from Nags Head to Cape Lookout, N.C.

Gale warnings flew from Block Island south to Myrtle Beach, S.C., and over the southern Chesapeake Bay.

Big Airlift to Germany Is Tuesday

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

FT. HOOD, Tex. (AP) — A "let's get going" mood gripped this sprawling tank base today as the 13,500 men of the crack 2nd Armored Division poised for the start of the historic "Exercise Big Lift" to West Germany.

The lead jet C135 bearing Maj. Gen. Edwin H. Burba, the "Hell on Wheels" division commander, and his headquarters was due to take off at one minute past midnight Tuesday.

From then on, for three days, jet, turbo-prop and propeller-driven transports will ferry a stream of battle-dressed U.S. soldiers across the Atlantic 5,600 miles from deep in the heart of Texas to the heart of West Germany.

Other planes of the Military Air Transport Service (MATS) will be lifting artillery and truck outfits from Ft. Sill, Okla., Ft. Eustis, Va., and Ft. Bragg, N.C. The Air Force will send a Sunday. Brother James Andrew, largest of the quint, got out of the Islette last week.

The two other girls, Mary Ann and Mary Magdalene, are still in Islettes. But, like the others, they're getting along nicely.

Celebrities Out for Groundbreaking

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The groundbreaking for a museum brought out celebrities en masse composite strike force of 116 jet fighters, reconnaissance planes and transports across the Atlantic from Loring Air Force Base in Maine and Westover Air Force Base, Mass., to forward airfields in France and Germany.

This will be the biggest, and in many ways the most significant, airlift operation in history. All told, 18,000 Army and Air Force men and more than 350 planes will span the Atlantic in a demonstration of this country's growing ability to quickly reinforce the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

When the 2nd Armored Division reaches Germany, landing at three bases in the Frankfurt area, its units will move to depots and draw more than 27,000 tons of tanks, artillery, trucks and armored troop carriers from stockpiles.

After drawing this heavy gear, the division will head for a week of maneuvers with other U.S. forces manning defenses along the Iron Curtain.

After the war games along one of the main invasion approaches from East Germany, the 2nd Armored Division will turn in its heavy equipment and return home to this 207,000-acre post.

Berry Hired to Make Some Rain

NEWPORT, Ark. (AP)—Mal Homer Berry has been hired by an appliance dealer in Newport to make rain, and Berry says he has some new chemicals that should do the job faster.

He formerly used silver iodide particles to "make rain." Berry isn't revealing what the new chemicals are.

The assignment will be the North Little Rock rainmaker's second in Newport. Hired last spring by a group of Jackson County ginners, he was to have received a substantial sum if he produced rain.

Berry left that time, and less than 24 hours later the rains came.

This time Berry is getting a straight fee of $750.

Berry claims he has never failed to produce rain in any area where he worked.

in Hollywood.

Rosalind Russell was mistress of ceremonies. Other participants included Gregory Peck, Jack Webb, Gene Autry, June Allyson, Irene Dunne, Robert Cummings, Jack Oakie, Mary Pickford and Gloria Swanson.

The museum, to be built near the Hollywood Bowl, will house memorabilia of famous films, radio and television programs—and the stars.

otic Drugs Import and Export Act. The Supreme Court in May 1960 refused to review their trial and they then began proceedings for a new trial on grounds of newly discovered evidence. Losing in lower federal courts in New York, the 10 persons appealed again to the Supreme Court.

In addition to Genovese, the appeals were by Natale Evola, Salvatore Santora, Vincent Gigante, Joseph Di Palermo, Barcellona, Joseph Valachi, gangster-informer who was the star witness at the Senate crime hearings, called Genovese "boss of bosses under the table" for Cosa Nostra — meaning he was the top man in the organization.

accident.

In a Drew County case, the court held a will made by Ruth Harris, in 1910 was valid even though state law at the time forbade a minor from making a will. Mrs. Harris was 18 at the time, but before she died in 1960, a law was passed permitting minors to make wills. The Supreme Court said the new law superceded the older one in the case.

Mrs. Sam Huckabee, Jr., from the Iris Garden Club, and Mrs. Pat O'Malley, from the Gardenia Club, will be the adult sponsors for the Sprouts this year.

Mrs. Huckabee made an illustrated talk on flower arrangements, stressing the rules. The secretary read the constitution and by-laws of the club, and the song leader led the singing of "America."

At the close of the meeting, delicious punch and cookies were served by the sponsors.

Friday Music Club Meets
On October 18 the Friday Music Club met in the home of Mrs. B. W. Edwards with Mrs. Guy Downing, co-hostess. Celosia, bachelor buttons, and carnations were seen in attractive arrangements at points of interest in the home. Pie and coffee were served to the 19 members as they arrived.

The business meeting was opened and the Club Collect repeated in unison under the direction of the president, Mrs. Arch Wylie. Mrs. Charles Reynerson was named corresponding secretary to fill the position formerly held by Mrs. Gilbert Thomas, who has moved out of town. Plans were also completed for the district meeting to be held in Hope on Saturday, October 26.

A most enjoyable program was presented, beginning with the Hymn of the Month, "I Sing the Mighty Power of God," being outlined by Mrs. Douglas Drake. All joined in singing it accompanied by Mrs. Thomas E. Hays, Jr. at the piano.

"Richard Wagner" was the subject of the program, and Mrs. Roy Stephenson made a clever and interesting talk about his life. Mrs. Thomas E. Hays, Jr. sang a selection from "Lohengrin," accompanied by Mrs. H. A. Spraggins. Two unusual piano solos were played by Mrs. Arthur Wimmell. One was "Evening Star" arranged for the left hand alone, and the other was a concert arrangement of "The Bridal Chorus."

Bridge Club Meets
A local Friday Bridge Club met with Mrs. C. P. Tolleson on October 18, and roses were seen in pretty arrangements in the home. The two tables of players included one club guest, Mrs. Dewey Camp.

High scorers for the afternoon were Mrs. Camp and Mrs. C. C. Lewis. The Halloween motif was used in the refreshments, a dessert plate and coffee, that were served.

Coming and Going
Mr. and Mrs. Donal Parker attended the Arkansas-Texas football game in Little Rock Saturday.

Mrs. C. P. Tolleson has returned home from a recent trip to Michigan, where she visited her daughter, Mrs. Robert Huber, and Mr. Huber near Detroit and her brother, James K. Ellis, and Mrs. Ellis in Owosso.

Mr. and Mrs. B. B. McPherson spent the weekend in Little Rock with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gray and family.

Mrs. Roy Stephenson went to the Rose Festival in Tyler, Tex., this week end and carried her aunt, Mrs. J. B. Laski, home after a week's visit.

Miss Margaret Jean Copeland of Arkadelphia visited her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Copeland, here last week. They returned her to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Copeland, on Sunday.

Miss Velma Goss has returned home from a 10-day visit with her sister in Vassar, Mich., which also included a trip to Canada.

DOROTHY DIX

SEPARATE LIVES

By Helen Worden Erskine

Dear Helen: My husband calls sex "kid stuff." I have my own room, he has his. He doesn't drink, gamble or smoke, gives me his pay check, is quiet, reserved, fastidious, and even-tempered. His employers believe him a paragon of virtue and me a very lucky woman. My family and friends think ours a perfect marriage. Alas, we are business partners—nothing more. Our talk is limited to politics and property. He reads after dinner or watches TV. I might as well be a piece of furniture. We never go out alone—even to market. Our sole social outlet is a monthly visit to my sister's.

Were I younger, I should leave him for a man who would be conscious of my existence. But, since we are past 50, I stay. I work hard to keep the house immaculate, do my own cooking (which is good) and all the yard work. Ours is a beautiful home.

I married, loving my husband, but soon discovered he was cold as a marble slab. What he needs is a housekeeper, laundress, cook and secretary, not a wife. Should I simply wait to die inside — Abandoned.

Dear Abandoned: No normal man who loves his wife would behave as your husband does. Perhaps he needs a shot of the right hormones. A talk with your doctor might be beneficial. In any case, you'll have to break the communications barrier. Unlike the walls of Jericho, it won't tumble down overnight. Use all your feminine ingenuity. If your efforts prove even slightly successful, show your husband this column.

Shop without him. Invite friends to your home. Enroll in an adult education course. Develop outside interests. You're an individual. Prove it to your husband. Remember, though, that an important aspect is to be attractive both in personality and appearance. How do you rate on this score?

There are so many ways of making a man conscious of his wife's existence, ranging all the way from leaving a sink full of dirty dishes to greet him when he comes home, to giving him a surprise party replete with guests, vintage wine, flickering candles and a hostess in a snappy new gown.

More than anything else you both need to be jolted out of your respective ruts. My leaflet, "The Ideal Husband" might shake yours out of his rut. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for it.

Dear Helen: Our daughter told us a lie, with her hand on the Bible! We have brought her up to speak the truth. She has attended church regularly since childhood and plays the piano for hymn singing. She is 16, does well in school and we think her talented. She lacks social life because three small children make it difficult for us to entertain. She snaps back when we reprimand her and is unkind to us—her loving parents. Where have we failed? — Upset Mother

Dear Upset Mother: Cheer up. You haven't failed. Re-primand of parents, back talk when reprimanded, and apparent unkindness in the home, are all part of the typical adolescent behavior pattern. You'll survive as have millions of other mother and fathers.

Dear Helen: I am a junior in high school and have lately begun to despise my snobbish friends. We are the popular ones in school and, as a consequence, dominate most of the activities. Anybody not in our crowd is a misfit. This I do not like. Most of our parties wind

Claims Against Firm Approved

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — Chancellor Claude E. Love approved Wednesday claims totaling $81,275 against the Chase-Grocer-Rubber Co. of El Dorado.

Among the claims heard were 17 suits involving recovery of leased equipment and molds for up in quarrels, which disgusts me. I try hanging around with other teens. Is there a solution to my problem — Miss Friendless?

Dear Miss Friendless: Yes, Don't be a sheep and follow the others. Try taking a stand on what you believe is right. Soon your "friends" will be following you, or else they will be the "misfits".

Have you a problem. Perhaps Helen Worden Erskine can help you. Write her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

rubber products. Only one claim was denied; 12 were allowed and four were passed for a later hearing.

Union County's $3,111,750 suit against the firm was not heard Wednesday, but was expected to go before the court today. The county is seeking a writ of foreclosure and immediate possession of plant facilities.

Just prior to adjournment Wednesday, the court heard claims from a group of employees asking back pay and/or commissions. No ruling was made.

Love dismissed one case with prejudice because the plaintiff had exercised a conditional sales contract and reclaimed equipment.

Tracing the Trail of Killer Flora

EDITOR'S NOTE—A tropical disturbance is formed and starts spinning westward over the Atlantic on Sept. 16, 1963, 3,900 miles southeast of Florida. It develops into Hurricane Flora, the most devastating storm recorded in the Caribbean area. The following traces its birth, growth and effects.

By BEN FUNK
Associated Press Staff Writer

The day: Thursday, Sept. 26, 1963. The exact time: Unknown. The place: The tropical Atlantic, 3,000 miles southeast of the Florida coast.

The day is hot, sultry, oppressive. The wind blows in fitful gusts. The heaving sea is gray and sluggish as molten lead.

A whiff of warm, damp air rises from the sea, like smoke drifting up a chimney. Other air takes its place and is caught in the updraft. Very, very slowly, an air column grows.

Rising, the warm air expands and cools. The water in it condenses and falls. Heat is released, adding energy to the thing that has formed.

Affected by the spinning of the earth, the air begins to revolve around a hollow center. Erratically, the darkening column begins to drift westward with the trade winds.

Orbiting over the South Atlantic on Sept. 26, the Tires 7 weather satellite photographed a poorly organized circular motion in a cloud mass.

Forecasters mark this down as an "area of suspicion" and plan to keep an eye on it.

SUNDAY, Sept. 29
6 p.m. The captain of a ship

350 miles east of Trinidad reports he is encountering light squalls and rising seas. His barometer is falling.

A hurricane hunter plane is readied at Roosevelt Roads, Puerto Rico, for a flight the next morning.

MONDAY, SEPT. 30

10 a.m. The hurricane hunter thrusts his plane through the "wall of the eye" of a small but tightly wound and "very dangerous" hurricane. It is moving fast toward the island of Tobago.

Tobago has two hours to prepare. The eye of the hurricane reaches the coast at noon.

Houses collapse under the 100-mile-an-hour winds. Torrential rain triggers floods. Towering tides bury the beaches. Seventeen islanders die.

TUESDAY, OCT. 1

In Haiti, the Negro nation on the island of Hispaniola, the sound of the sea is subtly changing. From far out comes a single long, low swell. It hits the shore of the Tiburon Peninsula with an unexpected boom. Slowly, another comes, and another.

Flora, still far away, is growing more violent.

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 2

1 p.m. The waves are breaking high over the coast of Hispaniola. The weather remains calm. Wisps of cirrus clouds spread a pale, milky haze over the sky.

Midnight: A swirling breeze intrudes on the stillness and rustles the palm fronds in Haiti. The air is charged with electricity. Breathing seems difficult.

THURSDAY, OCT. 3

8 p.m. The wall of the eye, a solid barrier of water and wind whirling savagely in toward the calm center of the hurricane, crosses the coast between Aquin and Cotes de Fer.

Funneling down the canyons between mountain ranges, gusts reach 200 miles an hour.

Solid sheets of rain turn rivers and streams into torrents. Crashing down the mountainsides, they push the crops, even the soil, into the sea.

FRIDAY, OCT. 4

1 p.m. Flora slams into Cuba's Oriente Province. Now it is the biggest hurricane in history. It torments the seas for a thousand miles, from the Bahamas to Puerto Rico.

SATURDAY, OCT. 5

A gigantic high pressure system to the north stops Flora over Cuba.

11 a.m. Flora wanders aimlessly westward, is blocked again by high pressure over the Gulf States.

SUNDAY, OCT. 6

The hurricane turns southwest back into the Caribbean, lashing Camaguey and Oriente provinces.

MONDAY, OCT. 7

The storm stalls between the cities of Camaguey and Santiago de Cuba. Never has a single area taken such a sustained beating from a hurricane.

TUESDAY, OCT. 8

After four days of fantastic rain, floods have risen to tree-top level in Eastern Cuba. Some areas never touched by floodwaters become inland seas.

1 p.m. At last, the storm moves northeast off the north-east Cuban coast.

Flora is racing toward her death over the cold waters of the North Atlantic.

Now relief workers can pick their way through the mud and debris. Gradually, the awful tale unfolds.

In Haiti: More than 5,000 dead. No really accurate count is possible. Many bodies are in the sea or under the mud.

In Cuba: More than 1,000 dead. Fidel Castro's Communist regime has suffered an econom-

A Report on Trouble in Venezuela

An AP Special Report

EDITOR'S NOTE—Almost every day there are new reports of terrorism in Venezuela, a key nation in hopes for democratic progress in South America. What is behind this effort to push the country to dictatorship? Here is an analysis by the AP's chief diplomatic affairs reporter in Washington, now on a swing around South America to find out how both Uncle Sam and Fidel Castro are doing in that critical area.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — The Red terrorists in Venezuela call their hit-and-run war of bombings, murders, and robberies "La guerra prolongada" — The long war. Their immediate aim is to destroy this country's hopeful start on democratic government. Their ultimate goal is to convert Venezuela into a new Cuba.

"We can afford to lose a thousand times," says one of their slogans, "but we only have to win once."

The terrorists are city guerrillas. They have little support in the countryside or the villages. They often hide in crowded slum areas but they do not seem to be children of the slums. They are mainly university students from the country's more privileged families.

The youths in their teens and early 20s include girls as well as boys. When an insurance office was raided and burned a few days ago the raiders were two boys and girls in shorts. The girls sometimes use lipstick to write "FALN" on the walls of places attacked.

FALN stands for "Armed Forces of National Liberation." Officials of the Betancourt government estimate its strength at 200-400 active members. The leaders are Cuban-trained experts in sabotage, subversion, and propaganda, estimated to number about 100.

Fidel Castro is their hero. Small as their numbers are, they constitute for Castro and communism a striking force on the South American continent; in this sense they pose a threat to the interests and policies of the United States in its own backyard.

Behind the active strike force, government officials say, is a much larger group of Communists and pro-Communists who provide passive support. The total number of Communists in the country is estimated at 40,000. The Communist party and the Marxist Movement of the Revolutionary Left, known as MIR, both have had representatives and senators in Congress.

President Romulo Betancourt and the Communists both are following very long-range strategies in their struggle over the country's future. The Reds have been trying through their terror campaign to break down peace and public order to such an extent that the army would be compelled to take over. They reason they could then rally the country against a military dictatorship and seize power through a popular rebellion.

Betancourt's strategy is explained by Interior Minister Manuel Mantilla, who is charged with public security.

"The government's purpose is to isolate the Communists from the life of the nation and especially from the non-Communist left, so that labor unions, professional organizations, business organizations and all other groups support the government on this issue," he says.

Venezuela But Betancourt says that battling terrorists, though vital as a defensive measure, is only a small part of the job that has to be done if democracy is to be firmly implanted in many Latin-American countries. He is mainly concerned about wiping out the basic conditions that produce dictatorships, right or left.

He feels that the reason he has been successful so far in Venezuela is that he has pushed through reform programs to narrow the gap between rich and poor, to raise salaries, improve housing, resettle the land with small farmers, wipe out illiteracy, and put children into school.

The United States has a big stake in the ultimate outcome. U.S. investments here total $3.5 billion. U.S. trade with Venezuela is greater than with any other Latin-American nation. Venezuela is one of the three greatest oil producing nations of the world and has vast quantities of iron ore and other natural resources. Its position on the Caribbean shores of South America is highly strategic.

"It's easy to see," a U.S. diplomat said, "why Venezuela is Castro's No. 1 target in this part of the world."

ic disaster.

Flora takes her place in history — the most deadly storm ever to howl out of the tropical Atlantic. The old death record of 6,000, set by the Galveston hurricane of 1900, has been exceeded.

Trial Run for New Burma Ship

BEIGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)

— A ship built for Burma was sent on a trial run Thursday. Speeding down the Danube, it suddenly changed course and capsized, spilling most of the 35 persons aboard. Five were missing and presumed drowned.

Fishermen rescued many in the icy river. Others trapped in the boat were freed by crews who cut through the steel hull. Among the missing was a Khin Maung Nyunt, third secretary of the Burmese Embassy in Belgrade.

Concerned Over Crime by Youths

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A concern over juvenile crimes has spurred Northwest Arkansas civic leaders to build a Boy Land of Arkansas to rehabilitate boys who get into trouble with the law.

Jack Grasinger, former head coach at Springdale Junior High School, outlined plans for the rehabilitation home in a speech before a Little Rock civic club Thursday night.

He said a once fashionable resort at Winslow, 21 miles south of Fayetteville on U.S. Highway 71, will be reopened Jan. 1, modeled after Cal Farley's Boys Ranch at Amarillo, Tex., and Boys Town, Neb.

A $5,000 gift from Winthrop Rockefeller was the down payment on 364 acres of land. A rock house on it is being re-modeled for living quarters for 20 boys, Gasinger said.

Eventually, he said, Boy Land hopes to accommodate 100 youngsters, living in cottages of 10 boys each and supervised by a couple preferably with children of their own.

Members of the board are Frank Strode, a Rogers businessman; James Evans, a Springdale lawyer; Washington County Judge Arthur Martin; Bob Bitter, a Springdale businessman; Bob Hoben of Bentonville, an employee of the Arkansas Farm Bureau Federation; Dr. David Horner, a Springdale optometrist; Dr. J. E. Brightwell, a Springdale physician; S. E. Prince of Prairie Grove, a businessman; and Vincent Bell of Lincoln, a businessman.

Gasinger said donations to the project include cattle, sheep, money and such work as painting, wiring and plumbing.

The project is about $4,000 short of the amount needed to get the operation under way, he said.

Free dental and medical services had been offered, he said, as well as psychiatric and psychological help, religious instruction.

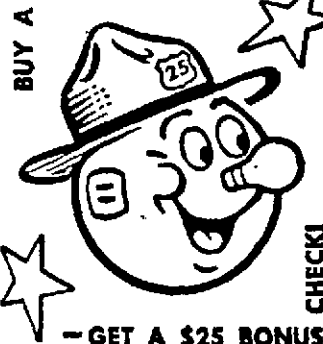

Grasinger said Boy Land would take boys referred by county judges and juvenile courts and keep them until they were 18, when, it is hoped, they would be rehabilitated and trained for a vocation.

Here's How Top Teams Fared Sat.

By TE DMEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer
It wasn't a black Saturday like the previous week for the nation's top-ranking college football teams, just a scary one. Texas, Wisconsin and Pitt, ranked 1-2-3 in The Associated Press poll, each preserved their unbeaten and untied status, but just barely. The same went for Dartmouth, which extended to 15 the nation's longest winning streak for major teams. It had to uncork a hipper-dipper play in the closing minutes to beat Holy Cross, 13-8.

Texas took an early lead against Arkansas, then hung on desperately to pull out a 17-13 victory over the Porkers. Tony Crosby, the shoeless kicker, booted a key field goal for the Longhorns.

Towa gave Wisconsin fits, but the Badgers eked out a 10-7 victory on Dave Fronek's 20-yard field goal. And Pitt had to come from behind to beat West Virginia 13-10 on a 46-yard sprint by Paul Marthia in the last quarter.

Ohio State, No. 4 in last week's AP poll, took a 32-3 shellacking from Southern California, last year's national champions, while Navy No. 10, rebounded from its Southern Methodist defeat, to whip Virginia Military 21-12.

Unbeaten and untied Auburn and Jimmy Sidle got into the national picture by walloping Georgia Tech, No. 8, 29-21. Mississippi, No. 5 blanked Tulane 21-0, but Oklahoma, No. 6, had to go all out to beat Kansas 21-18. So did seventh-ranked Illinois, which capitalized on fumbles to beat Minnesota 16-6. Alabama, No. 9, with Joe Namath passing for three TD's, crushed Tennessee 35-0 and Northwestern, tied for No. 10 with Navy, romped against Miami of Ohio 37-6.

Smiling Clerk Means More Than Prices

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—A smiling clerk means more than low prices to a supermarket customer. That's the conclusion of a study of customer preferences undertaken by Progressive Grocer, a trade publication, and Colonial Stores, Inc., 11th largest U.S. food chain.

Results of the survey of 12,000 shoppers were reported this week to the annual meeting of the National Association of Food Chains in New York.

The average shopper wants to be treated as a human being and selects her store, first, because she likes the personnel and, second, for the wide variety of products and brands it offers, according to the study.

Customers, it was found, no longer tend to shop exclusively in one supermarket, but generally patronize two, three and even more supermarkets.

This shopping constitutes a real competitive problem, and also an opportunity for chain supermarkets in that it gives each store a chance to woo the customers of his competitor.

The best way to woo customers, according to the shoppers interviewed, is through congenial, capable store personnel interested in the common and uncommon needs and preferences of the housewife.

Helpful, friendly store personnel was rated as the No. 1 reason for store loyalty. This was followed by a wide choice of merchandise, meats and produce.

The study showed wide variations in customer purchases by family income. Middle to higher income families spend more for meats, frozen foods, delicacies, baked goods, sauces, light bulbs, paper products, beer and candy in supermarkets. Middle to lower income families spend more for dairy products, baking mixes, cereals, detergents, household supplies, jams and spreads and cigarettes.

Robert W. Mueller, publisher of Progressive Grocer, said the study "tends to confirm our fears that individuality in terms of merchandise is diminished and strongly underlines the importance of the human element, the difference in personnel and their services that customers find so pronounced."

"When customers think highly of personnel, a halo is created that spreads throughout the store and customers tend to see that store as having lower prices, more valuable stamps, tenderer meat, fresher produce and wider aisles."

Nicklaus Is Winner at Las Vegas

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer
LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Jack Nicklaus, having grabbed most of the golfing silver in the silver state of Nevada, headed for Paris today and something less tangible—prestige.

This remarkable young man, only 23, the Master's and PGA and former National Open champion, will team with Arnold Palmer to represent the United States in the Canada Cup matches.

Admittedly, any francs he wins in France will not disturb Nicklaus' income tax status much in this country.

Nicklaus won the $70,000 Sahara Invitational Tournament Sunday with a come-from-behind 69 for a 72-hole score of 276. He did it with his second big rally in four days.

The first came after a disastrous 75 in the first round, which left him eight strokes behind the leader that day, Al Geiberger.

Nicklaus trailed the 26-year-old Californian by two strokes going into the final nine holes. Then Nicklaus poured it on, and Geiberger had to settle for a tie with Gay Brewer, each with a 70 for 277.

Nicklaus collected $13,000, the same sum he earned in winning the Las Vegas Tournament of Champions last spring. He also won a $4,000 automobile. It boosted his official PGA earnings for the year to $98,990.

New Picture Rhino' Shot in Africa

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Film maker Ivan Tors aims to do for the lumbering rhinoceros what he has done for the graceful dolphin.

Tors is a bearded, Hungarian-accented producer with two missions: 1. To make movies for the whole family ("I have three sons, and if a Disney picture isn't showing, we can't go to the theater together"); 2. To make movies that no one else can produce.

He accomplished both purposes in his first MGM film, "Flipper," about a boy and his dolphin. It cost a half-million and appears headed for a gross between 5 and 8 millions. A sequel is in the works, as well as a "Flipper" television series, for which all networks are bidding.

Tors' latest adventure into the unique was "Rhino," which he shot this summer in Africa.

"It is different from any picture ever made about Africa," he declared. "I had read every book I could find about Africa, and I thought I knew it. But after I traveled all over the continent, I had to sit down in Johannesburg and rewrite the entire script."

"Rhino," which stars Harry Guardino and Robert Culp, concerns efforts to save African animals from extinction.

"We got shots that have never before been possible," said the producer. "How? By inventing new equipment for the particular project."

"I've done the same thing with my television series. Underwater photography used to be a difficult matter involving diving suits and sea bells. We developed a camera for 'Sea Hunt' that could be operated by one swimmer. For 'Ripcord' we devised a camera that fits into the helmet of a parachutist."

His innovations for "Rhino" were five lightweight cameras and reflectors that were highly mobile.

Congress Can Make Words Disappear

By J. W. DAVIS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Lots of people say things they wish they hadn't. Members of Congress have a unique advantage in this situation—they can wave a magic wand and make the words disappear.

The magic wand is their privilege to change the remarks they make on the floor before they are made a part of the Congressional Record.

For example, the other day Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, was complaining about trips some members like to take at public expense. Gross never goes on these himself.

Rep. Harold D. Cooley, D-N.C., upholding the worth of travel, demanded of Gross:

"If you don't want to go, why don't you just shut up?"

But the next morning when the Congressional Record came out, Cooley had softened his words.

As revised for the record, they read: "It is difficult for me to understand why you continue to complain."

Offhand, it would seem that Congress would want its record to be accurate, to show exactly what took place and what was said. But any feeling along those lines is outweighed by a desire to look as good as possible. And in Congress, as elsewhere, hindsight is 20-20 vision.

The late Sen. Richard L. Neuberger, D-Ore., who fought the practice, once described one aspect of it this way:

"After a major debate in the Senate over an issue which stirs profound emotions I have seen many senators virtually rewriting the speeches and retorts just delivered on the floor of the Senate."

"Some will totally expunge comments made in the heat of debate that may seem indiscreet or unwise in the cold, gray light of the next dawn and in the inflexible type of the Congressional Record."

On the other hand there is the argument, in favor of allowing revisions, that was advanced years ago by Rep. John W. McCormack, D-Mass., now the speaker of the House:

"Sometimes in running debate, extemporaneous debate in the House and heated argument, I say things sharply that upon reflection I would not have said, and did not mean."

If he didn't mean them, and they still slipped out, it is understandable why he would want to change them. But again, this is a privilege not accorded to most citizens in this democracy.

The No. 1 authority on Congress' reluctance to tighten the rules on what is permitted in the School Hires New Man for a Tough Job

An AP Special Report
By LEIF ERICKSON

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A Texas-born Negro who grew from a hard-knocking football lineman into a gentle-mannered schoolmaster has been picked to handle one of San Francisco's toughest school jobs—the new post of human relations officer.

With the rank and $17,400 salary of assistant superintendent, Dr. William L. Cobb is the first administrator in a metropolitan American school system charged with exclusive and specific responsibility for dealing with race and civil rights problems.

As a football center at Texas College in Tyler, Tex., Cobb was the center choice on a Negro All America picked from Negro college teams in 1934.

Still near his playing weight, Congressional Record is Rep. Paul C. Jones, D-Mo.

For years, Jones has been promoting a resolution to keep extraneous material out of the record, to have it reflect only what happened.

But Jones can't get the House Administration Committee, which reigns in this field, to even give him a hearing. And he's on the committee.

of 190 pounds, Cobb has shaped a personal philosophy in 24 years of school teaching that is sharply different from his football purpose.

"If you want to get somewhere, don't push somebody else down," Cobb said in talking of the aims of his new assignment in an interview.

"Let's all go there together." Cobb did not seek the job to which he was appointed Sept. 28 by Dr. Harold Spears, San Francisco school superintendent, with unanimous confirmation by the Board of Education.

Cobb was appointed principal of San Francisco's Emerson Elementary School in 1947 as the first Negro public school administrator in Northern California.

Cobb, 52, served 16 years at Emerson, now a predominantly Negro school in the North Fillmore district, a major center of Negro population.

Cobb came to the San Francisco area in World War II as a civilian worker in the Navy's supply organization. He had been a teaching principal for eight years in all-Negro high schools at Kilgore and Hawkins, Tex.

He had earned a master's degree at the University of Southern California in 1940 and his doctorate at the University of California at Berkeley.

The post of human relations officer was authorized following a stormy year during which Negro organizations charged that

Erhard Smashes Tradition

At the first Cabinet meeting under Erhard, the ministers were allowed to smoke.

Ex-Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, a non-smoker, frowned on anyone using tobacco in his presence. Smokers at Cabinet meetings did without during his 14 years in office.

Erhard is a heavy consumer of cigars.

Actor to Try Hand at Writing

BELEVADERE, Calif. (AP)—Sterling Hayden, a Hollywood actor for 18 of his 48 years, is embarking on a new career—writing.

Hayden met with newsmen in Belevedere to discuss his recently published autobiography, "Wanderer." He said he is working 12 hours a day, 7 days a week on other projects, including a novel.

"I've always had it in the back of my mind to be a writer," Hayden said, "but I never had the guts to do something original."

There was de facto segregation and the citizens committee for neighborhood schools made a countering defense of neighborhood boundaries.

Wants Study of Driver Program

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Sen. Thomas Penn of Black Rock asked the Arkansas Legislature Council Saturday to study the feasibility of starting a driver education program.

Penn suggested that the study be paid for with fees levied on fines paid by certain traffic offenders. The request came during a regular meeting of the council.

Benton County Rep. Roy Galvan proposed a study of the Boiler Inspection Division of the state Labor Department to see if more inspectors are needed.

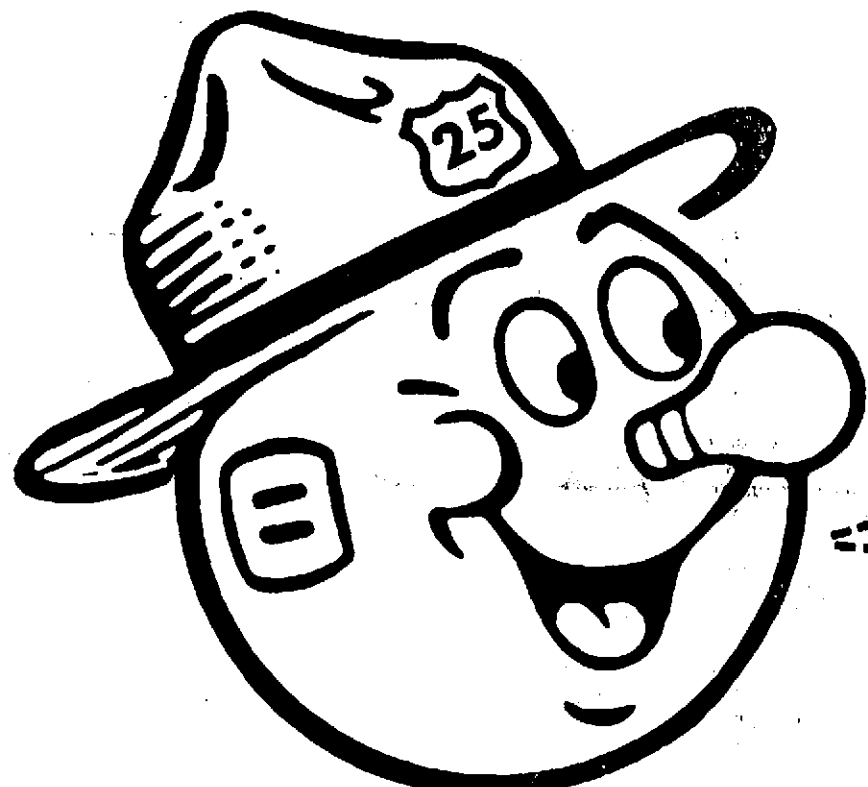

Columbia County Rep. Harry B. Colay had two proposals for the council.

One requested a study of laws dealing with nursing homes. Colay said this was proposed on the basis of a statement by Welfare Commissioner Jim Phillips that the state's welfare laws are inadequate.

Colay also asked for a study of laws dealing with the handling of psychotics who were charged with criminal offenses.

He said recent criminal cases in which the offender had been released from the state hospital after a psychiatric examination indicated the need for such a study.

Korean Head Pledges a Democracy

By CONRAD FINK

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — Military strongman Chung Hee Park said today his election as president was a giant step toward democracy in South Korea. He pledged to work for political stability.

His chief opponent, Yung Po-sun, called Park's victory the beginning of "virtual dictatorship" and said the nation cannot hope for political stability.

Final official returns from the election Tuesday showed Park defeated Yun by a margin of 156,029 votes. With three minor opposition candidates winning 831,344 votes, Park got only 43 per cent of the total.

Park's victory statement said his 29 months of military rule and the civilian government he overthrew were "unfortunate things of the past."

Speaking to newsmen at a resort 160 miles southeast of Seoul, Park said the balloting was fair and "showed to the nations of the entire world that our nation is fully capable of independent and democratic rule."

"Through the election I came to know where the will of the nation lies and where it is headed," Park said.

"I assure the nation that through forthright correction of mistakes and implementation of various programs my government will make vigorous efforts to modernize our fatherland."

Park also made a peace overture to his chief opponent, asking Yun in a telegram for his "cooperation and constructive criticism for creating a fresh political climate." But Yun said in an interview that Park, who retired from the army in August to make the race, "couldn't establish stability when in uniform and still can't."

Prosecutor Named in Spa Case

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Former Garland County Prosecutor R. Julian Glover was named Thursday to handle the state case against David B. Whittington Jr., 19, charged with first degree murder.

Whittington, son of Garland County Prosecutor David B. Whittington, is charged in the death Saturday of Mrs. Carolyn Brazil, 23, a waitress and the mother of three young children.

Whittington asked that he not be required to handle the case against his son.

Young Whittington has been sent to the State Hospital for a 30-day mental examination.

Glover was appointed by Circuit Judge P. E. Dobbs, who is vacationing at Panama City, Fla. Court officials were notified by letter.

"Do you think I'm guilty?"

"Of course I don't!"

He circled her in his arms and squeezed her until she squealed. In the adjoining office Vera's staccato typing abruptly stopped. After a tactful lapse it resumed, faster than before. Jean rested her head on Blake's shoulder, laughing silently.

"Bless you," he said. "I'm still the prime suspect in a murder case — in fact, I'm the only one. As a husband, my prospects could hardly be worse."

"I'll risk it. I think it's my duty to be in the same trouble you're in."

Shellam shook hands with Blake. Barcello did not offer; he nodded. This gesture of Shellam's, Blake knew, meant no more than the preliminary mesh of boxing gloves at the start of a prize fight.

Shellam's eyes were a brilliant blue; they could be friendly and warm, or terrifyingly piercing. He wore a polish over his hardness.

The judge had heard them and had come to the door. He greeted them with dignified warmth and conducted them into the living room. Barcello was even quieter than usual, Blake noticed; evidently he would leave the talking to his chief.

Shellam looked around with a smile and spoke the expected pleasantries — charming home; beautiful setting. When they had taken chairs, Judge Carden suggested a drink; they both declined. The two callers were seated on one side of the room, the judge and Blake facing them on the other.

"This is kind of you, Judge Carden; I know how heavy your docket is," Shellam began. "I'll take no more of your time than necessary. But in a case as serious as this I must be thorough."

"I should expect that of you," the judge said.

"Two days ago Lee was in Blake's waiting room when Mrs. Hayward was closeted with you. He says she was furiously angry. He overheard her use the word 'swindle' and the threatening phrase 'I'll pull the roof down.' Lee's presence at that moment was a coincidence, but as a coincidence it's negligible because Mrs. Hayward had said much the same thing to her housekeeper — vaguely, without naming names or stating her grievance. Was she referring to something involving her husband's estate?"

"Not in any way."

"I see. The day before yesterday you drew $3,000 cash from your bank. At that time Mrs. Hayward was waiting in your office. Waiting for the money? Did you give it to her then, Mr. Carden?"

"No."

"But you had intended to pay it over to her."

"If I had, why didn't I?"

"You'd held off, hadn't you, Mr. Carden? You'd hoped to get out of paying her, but that outburst of hers must have made you think. It made you realize she was becoming so dangerous to you that you'd have to shut her up."

"Like Lee, you're guessing — and you're wide of the mark, whatever you suspect."

"I think it's a little better than guesswork, Mr. Carden. We'll come back to it later." Shellam was effectively using an opportunity to keep Blake on edge. He stated abruptly, "You own a small boat."

"As Lee told you."

"Mr. Carden, when Lee asked you if you had taken your boat out on the bay night before last, your answer was no." To the county prosecutor this was plainly a telling point. "Do you know a man named Elton Thomas?"

"I've known him well for years. He's the commodore of the yacht club."

"Yes. I might say that Mr. Thomas did not bring up this information personally. Lee heard of it indirectly, then verified it. Mr. Thomas passed Valec at anchor — at a time coinciding with that of Mrs. Hayward's death — and nearly collided with a smaller boat close alongside. This small boat heeled away at top speed, but not so fast as to get out of range of the cruiser's spotlight. Mr. Thomas recognized it—the runabout marked with your initials — and you driving it."

"No comment, Mr. Shellam."

Military Building in Three Cities

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Armed Services Committee made public Thursday a list of projects in a bill to authorize military construction, including projects at three Arkansas cities.

The bill includes $1,646,000 to build training, maintenance, administrative, community and supply facilities at the Little Rock Air Force Base.

Blytheville Air Force Base would get $549,000 for operational, maintenance and administrative facilities and for troop housing.

The Pine Bluff Arsenal would get an undisclosed amount for construction of 33 units of family housing.

The projects were approved by the committee Oct. 15 for the fiscal year which began July 1.

Bombers Are Used to Fight Forest Fires

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Forestry officials sent B26 bombers swooping into the fire-fight Thursday as Arkansas' critical drought problem worsened.

The United States Forest Service employed the bombers to battle forest fires northwest of Hatfield on U.S. Highway 71-59 near the Arkansas - Oklahoma state line.

John L. Koen, forest supervisor of the Ouachita National Forest, said the fires covered 100 acres in the forest.

Three twin-engine B26's made three passes over the blaze, dropping a total of 10,800 gallons of ammonium phosphate fire retardant, Koen said.

The bombing raids saved a house and farm buildings within the path of the fire, Koen said, and controlled it even before bulldozers and plows could be moved in to establish a fire line.

Koen said the Forestry Service brought the bombers from Fort Smith after two major fires burned 6,500 acres of national forest timberland over the weekend.

"Under these extremely dry conditions, we must hit all fires hard and fast when they are small or large, destructive fires will result," Koen said.

He said the bombers each are equipped with two 600 gallon tanks for transporting the ammonium phosphate solution. Their strikes are made from about 75 feet above tree-top level, Koen said, and they can dump the solution in a path 50-feet wide and 300-feet long.

If necessary, Koen said, a "trial drop" can be made, spreading the solution along a 600-foot long path.

Koen credited the raids with saving 1,000 acres of "valuable timber on the national forest."

Texas Beats Off Porker Comeback

By WICK TEMPLE

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Texas linebacker Timmy Doerr intercepted a pass and recovered a fumble in the last five minutes to kill an Arkansas comeback and preserve a 17-13 victory Saturday night, and now the top-ranked Longhorns look forward to "spoiler" Rice.

Arkansas, the pre-season Southwest Conference favorite, came away with a 2-3 record and little chance for a title, but nobody in the Arkansas camp seemed downhearted.

The Razorbacks proved a rookie offense in a momentous second half against Texas, and looked forward to improvement the rest of the season and a broad vista in 1964.

It was at this time a year ago that Rice tied the unbeaten Longhorns and knocked them out of the nation's No. 1 position. Texas won the rest of its games and likely would have claimed the national championship except for that tie.

"I've already forgotten about this game," said Texas tackle Scott Appleton in the dressing room after the squeaker victory over Arkansas. "Now I'm thinking about Rice." The Owls beat Southern Methodist 13-7 Saturday.

The Razorbacks, meanwhile, looked forward to their annual rivalry with Tulsa in Fayetteville this Saturday.

It looked for a while like Arkansas would be the spoiler for Texas this year. The Longhorns raced to a 17-0 lead in the second quarter but Porker sophomore tailback Jackie Brasuell returned a kickoff 89 yards to the Texas six and sophomore quarterback Jon Brittenum fired a 12-yard touchdown strike to wingback Stan Sparks with 26 seconds left in the half.

Then in the third quarter Arkansas moved under Brittenum's passing 90 yards for a second touchdown. Brittenum scored from the one with 9:20 left in the game.

The Razorbacks got the ball back on Jim Grizzle's fumble recovery on the Arkansas 48, but Doerr intercepted Brittenum's pass and, after a Texas punt, he recovered Brittenum's fumble on the Arkansas 22. Texas ran out the clock.

But despite losing two fumbles and having a pass intercepted, Brittenum showed the quarterback Spark Arkansas has needed. He played virtually the whole game on offense and drew praise from coaches Frank Broyles and Darrell Royal and players from both teams. "Jon did the greatest job at quarterback that you could ever possibly ask from a sophomore," said Sparks.

Arkansas' great junior line-backer, Ronnie Caveness, was credited with seven tackles and 22 assists. "He must have made 50 per cent of the tackles for them," said Texas tailback Timmy Ford.

Sophomore Jim Lindsey, moved from tailback to fullback for this game, looked good with a net gain of 33 yards. Brittenum got 38 yards and that was Arkansas' ground offense. The Longhorns nailed the Arkansas ground attack. But Brittenum's 91 yards on nine pass completions carried the 90 yard drive, and any team that can move 90 yards against Texas with sophomores doing the work has some big days coming.

Brasuell wound up with no net gain but contributed the 29-yard kickoff return and caught two passes for 19 yards.

"I'm as proud of this football team as I've ever been of one," said Broyles. "When you spot the number one team 17 points and nearly come back."

This series has become a classic, and history threatened to repeat itself Saturday night. In 1960 Texas raced to a 14-0 lead over Arkansas and the Razorbacks bounced back for a 24-23 victory on a late field goal.

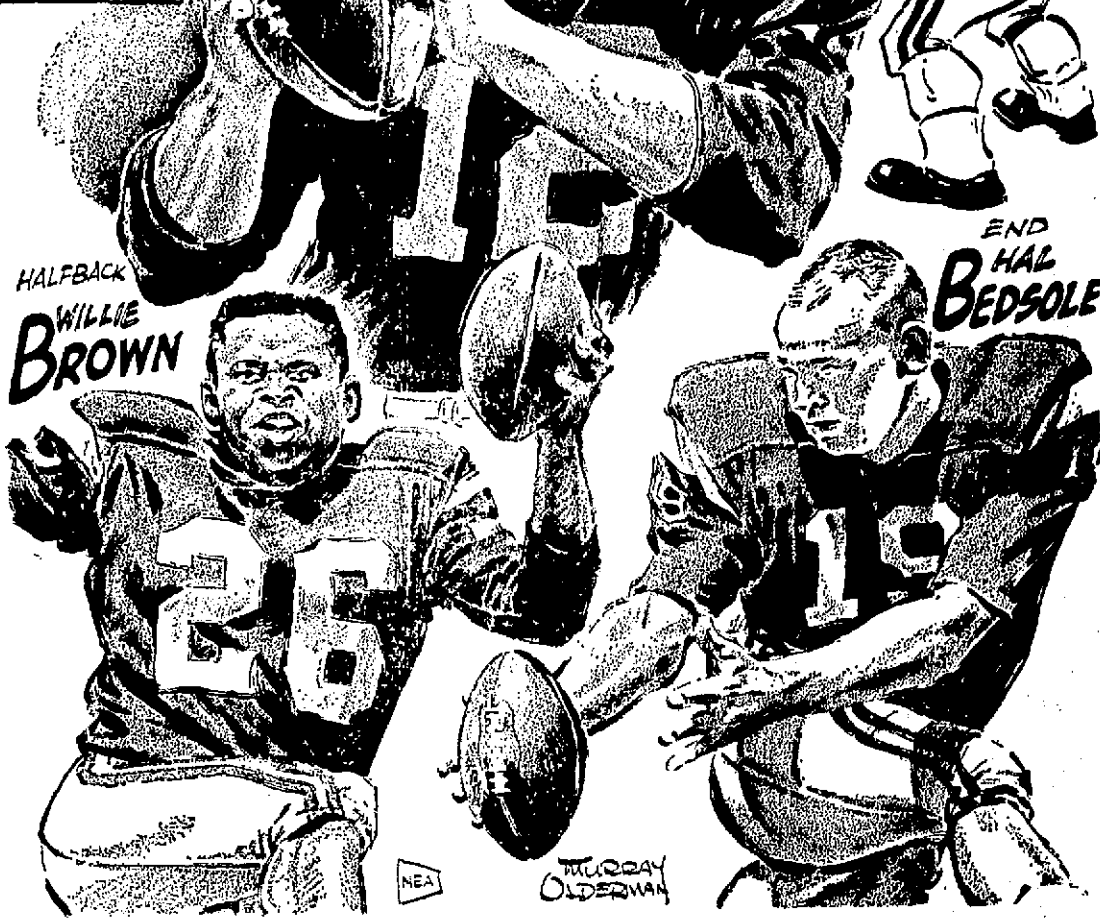

Texas' three horsemen, full-back Harold Philipp, quarterback Duke Carlisle and Ford, gained 236 of Texas' 247 ground yards. Philipp led with 135. Ford scored both touchdowns on short plunges and Tony Crosby kicked a 29-yard field goal.

But in the end, it was Texas' long-efficient defense that saved the Longhorns after Arkansas had stopped the offense twice on downs in Arkansas territory in the third quarter.

Sophomore line-backer Tommy Nobis and senior tackle Appleton were the bears. "We've got confidence in our defense," said Appleton.

Alworth and Rote Lead Chargers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tobin Rote, a can't-sit-still guy who probably has played out more options than any other man in pro football, is driving the San Diego Chargers toward their third American Football League divisional title in four years.

Rote rolled up 286 yards in the air by completing 16 of 22 passes, including touchdown pitches of 73 and 44 yards to Lance Alworth, as the Chargers knocked off the defending league champion Kansas City Chiefs 33-17 Sunday.

That boosted the Chargers' record to 5-1 and increased their Western Conference lead to 2½ games over second-place Oakland, 3-4 after walloping the New York Jets 49-26.

The Jets' loss dropped New York into third place in the East behind Houston and Boston tied for the top spot with 4-3 records. The Oilers defeated Buffalo 28-14. The Patriots beat Denver 40-21 in a Friday night game.

Rote, playing in his third pro league, has proved a vital factor in San Diego's return to the top after last year's dethroning, and may wind up playing on a championship outfit for the first time since he guided Detroit to the National League title in 1957.

Rote played out his option at Detroit, when he asked for a bigger contract and didn't get it.

So, he went up to Canada, played three years for Toronto and played out his option after a couple of disagreements with the coaches.

But he admitted he might be open to an offer by a U.S. club. Buffalo had the AFL rights to the 35-year-old quarterback, but parted with them in a trade with the Chargers, who were looking for a steady veteran in the event young John Hadl failed to make the grade.

peat itself Saturday night. In 1960 Texas raced to a 14-0 lead over Arkansas and the Razorbacks bounced back for a 24-23 victory on a late field goal.

Texas' three horsemen, full-back Harold Philipp, quarterback Duke Carlisle and Ford, gained 236 of Texas' 247 ground yards. Philipp led with 135. Ford scored both touchdowns on short plunges and Tony Crosby kicked a 29-yard field goal.

Longhorns Meet Rice Saturday

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

Associated Press Sports Writer

Texas' No. 1 national rating goes on the line against Rice this week and there's quaking in the boots at Austin.

Longhorn followers have only to check back one year and see why they should dread next Saturday.

In 1962 Texas was riding with the No. 1 rating and had just whipped what was considered its chief rival in the Southwest Conference race—Arkansas. So the Longhorns played Rice, which hadn't won a game, and were tied 14-14. There went the national rating.

And there'll be nothing phony about this year's "we fear Rice" because the school on the bayou at Houston ranks next to Texas Christian in making trouble for Texas in Darrell Royal's regime.

In those six years Rice has won twice, Texas three times and one game has been a tie.

Texas escaped with heart palpitations in its 17-13 victory over Arkansas Saturday.

This was enough to make Longhorn adherents take a most sober view of the probable happenings at Austin Saturday night.

Texas is the last undefeated untied team in the league but it is in a tie for first place in the conference race with Baylor. The Bears also have won two and lost none.

The latest Baylor conquest was 21-17 over Texas Tech. The Baptists also had heart murmurs over the flaming finish of that game.

Baylor goes to College Station Saturday to play Texas A&M and this could be trouble for the Golden Bears. Baylor hasn't beaten A&M since 1960.

The Aggies showed a continuation of their upward trend by playing highly favored Texas Christian to a 14-14 tie last week.

Rice beat Southern Methodist 13-7 in a rousing last-minute spurge and the Owls are undefeated in conference play. It didn't quite eliminate Southern Methodist since the Mustangs have lost only one. But another defeat would knock the Methodists out of contention.

Southern Methodist plays the erratic, up-and-down Texas Tech Red Raiders at Dallas Saturday.

Arkansas, which already has been eliminated from the race although the pre-season favorite for the championship, has an intersectional game, meeting Tulsa at Fayetteville.

Texas Christian takes the week off.

Wildlife Refuge Open to Public

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gus Albright, publicist for the Arkansas Game and Fish Commission, said Thursday the Grant-Saline County Wildlife Refuge, which has been closed since 1930, will be opened Nov. 11 and hunters may camp there beginning Nov. 10.

Land leases in the 17,750-acre refuge expire Nov. 10 and are not being renewed, Albright said. He said the state will no longer maintain the area as a wildlife refuge.

In another intersectional game Ouachita defeated Austin College at Sherman, Tex. 19-14 in a game in which all the scoring was jammed into the first half.

Ouachita scoring started after the Kangaroos had picked up a 7-0 lead in the first quarter. Tiger scored over guard from the one-yard line.

The TD climaxed a 54-yard drive which covered 12 plays. The point-after try was wide.

Ouachita went ahead 19-7 when Frank Spainhour passed nine yards to Jimmy Jackson. The drive began at the Kangaroo 25 with a fumble recovery.

Austin got its second touchdown with 6:56 left in the half. John Hacker intercepted a Spainhour pass in the flat and went 41 yards untouched for the touchdown.

The first Kangaroo score came on a 15-yard reverse by Ronnie Munden. It capped a 12-play, 67-yard drive.

In the only AIC conference game Saturday Southern State staved off an attack by College of the Ozarks and then put on a drive of their own for a 7-0 victory.

The Muleriders held Ozarks at the three yard line after the Mountaineers had driven from their own 30. State took over and went the entire 97 yards for a touchdown.

Bruce McKinnon got credit for the touchdown when he went in from the four-yard line.

McHan Leads 49ers to a Big Victory

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer

Lamar McHan, a discard who has been tossed away so often he began to feel as useful as a three of spades in a pinocchio deck, has turned a hot hand into the No. 1 upset of the National Football League season.

A 30-year-old journeyman quarterback who wound up at San Francisco three weeks ago in a quick shuffle, McHan completed 10 of 20 passes for 141 yards and one touchdown while guiding the 49ers to their first victory Sunday—20-14 over the previously unbeaten Chicago Bears.

McHan, a Heisman Trophy winner during his college career at Arkansas, turned up at Baltimore last year as the substitute dealer for Johnny Unitas after stops with the Chicago Cardinals and Green Bay Packers. He was cut loose by the Colts this season and considered retiring.

The 49ers, shopping for a quarterback to replace injured John Brodie, first traded for New York's Ralph Guglielmi. Guglielmi declined to report, and the 49ers finally turned to McHan, who mounted San Francisco's most productive offense since opening day.

The upset by the 49ers, whose total scoring output in two previous games consisted of a pair of field goals, threw the Western Conference race into a wide open battle and overshadowed two other developments—Jim my Brown's career rushing record and Bart Starr's hand in jury.

Brown carried 25 times for 144 yards and scored one touchdown on a pass, breaking Joe Perry's rushing record by bringing his total to 8,390 yards as Cleveland whipped Philadelphia 37-7 and became the league's last undefeated team.

Starr, the No. 1 quarterback for Green Bay's defending league champions suffered a severe injury to his passing hand in a fist-swinging battle with St. Louis' Jimmy Hill during the third period at the Packers' 30-7 romp over the Cardinals.

The Packers' triumph, coupled with the Bears' loss, left Green Bay and Chicago tied for the Western lead with 5-1 records. Cleveland, 6-0, leads the East by two games over St. Louis and New York, both 4-2.

Y. A. Tittle passed for four touchdowns in the Giants' 37-21 victory over Dallas. Pittsburgh came from behind for a 38-27 triumph over Washington. Baltimore edged Detroit 25-21 and Los Angeles dined Minnesota 27-24 for its first victory.

In the American League, San Diego crushed Kansas City 33-17. Houston whipped Buffalo 23-14 and Oakland routed New York 49-26.

Frank Ryan was the big man for the Browns with four touchdowns, a 10-yarder to Brown and a trio for Gary Collins covering 35, 17 and 14 yards. That brought his TD total to a league-leading 16. Brown eclipsed the career rushing mark of 8,296 yards set by Perry over a 14-year span. Brown is in his seventh season.

The Colts also won on an interception. Andy Nelson picked off a fourth-quarter pass by Milt Plum—the only one attempted by the Lions' quarterback and lugged it 26 yards for the clinching score.

The Rams, who had lost eight in a row, won their first for Coach Harland Svare when Danny Villanueva kicked two 27-yard field goals in the final period against the Vikings.

ger back Gary Malesky took the kickoff at the eight and scampered 92 yards in a touchdown run which broke a record for Louis Calder Stadium.

Robert McGlothin kicked the point after. Paul Rogers got the next Tiger score over guard from the one-yard line.

The TD climaxed a 54-yard drive which covered 12 plays. The point-after try was wide.

Ouachita went ahead 19-7 when Frank Spainhour passed nine yards to Jimmy Jackson. The drive began at the Kangaroo 25 with a fumble recovery.

Austin got its second touchdown with 6:56 left in the half. John Hacker intercepted a Spainhour pass in the flat and went 41 yards untouched for the touchdown.
